The first two studies were conducted by researchers at the University of Illinois at Chicago. In the first study, 100 students completed a questionnaire about their attitudes toward people with mental illness. The second study was a follow-up to the first, and it was designed to see if the students' attitudes had changed over time. The third study was a survey of 1,000 college students across the United States. The fourth study was a survey of 1,000 college students across the United States. The fifth study was a survey of 1,000 college students across the United States.
